BOMB WRECK AT COAL MINE

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Unknown men placed a dynamite bomb in the scale house underneath the tippie of the Elm Grove coal works, six miles east of here, last night. When a fire was kindled to-day an explosion followed, completely wrecking the scale house and partly dismantling the tippie. No one was injured.

Labor troubles are supposed to have been the cause. The company refused to sign the wage scale when the strike was called off last Summer, and Monday the terminating correspondence that William Randolph Hearst was recently able to bring the Sugar Trust and the New York Central into a series of flagrant relate crimes. The New York Central has already been indicted in a trial again on Wednesday on two additional charges, and the corporation is now in court with the charges which Mr. Hearst has rolled up against the corporation.

Baker Indiana Tool.

Indiana was the hottest of legislation in the State. Bryan's trust was the one that State he had made of his attention. His principal tool was State Senator O. A. Baker, who for several years was able to serve his State a great profit to himself well as to the members of the Legislature whom he had made of his attention. The trust laws affecting the trust were repeatedly

PABST HEIRS TO PAY BIG INHERITANCE TAX

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 8.—The heirs of Captain Frederick Pabst, founder of the Pabst brewery, will have to pay the State $120,000 under the inheritance tax law. Judge Carpenter of the Probate Court has decided that $134,000,000 which Captain Pabst left to his wife, Mrs. Frederick Pabst, and his sons, Frederick and Gustav, shortly before death, was given them in contemplation of death and to avoid payment of the large inheritance tax.

WATCH THE CAMERA MAN; HE'S APT TO GET YOU

He Catches One Woman Shopper
Every Weekday in the Retail District.

JUST the doting man, isn't it? He's the one in the world to watch. He's the one who, in the plainest proportion ever made.

Here it is, a snapshot. The BOSTON AMERICAN Camera Man catches every day about something in the vicinity of stores frequented by readers of this newspaper. He takes one snapshot of a woman shopper daily.

When the picture is related the original of the photograph, identifies the snapshot and receives a reward of $2 for her trouble. If she can't call she sends a coupon of herself, and if she sends a check by return mail. Anything she gets by the camera man.

Keep your eye on the camera man. He may catch you any day.

IRELAND'S MINES IN RAILWAYS' POWER

DUBLIN, Nov. 5.—Some indication of the growth and development of native industries in Ireland may be gathered from a government return just issued. It is calculated that there are twenty-four coal mines in Ireland, with a total output of 1,000,000 tons. The railways are the largest consumers of coal in Ireland, and the return shows that they have consumed 1,000,000 tons of coal in the last year.

HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN

THE BATTLE IS ON

TUESDAY,
NOVEMBER 6

IF THE PEOPLE LOSE TO-DAY, THEY WILL COME BACK TO THE ATTACK AGAIN AND AGAIN, UNTIL, AT LAST, THEY WIN

"The Result of the Elections in New York and Massachusetts Will Determine Whether the Government Is to Be American or Cossack."

—Henry Cabot Lodge.

They love their land and its flag. They work unceasingly and look forward to the day when they shall have earned a competence to support them in their old age. They are intelligent and resourceful.

They differ from all the common people in all the Republics that went before because they THINK MORE.

As they leave the fields and the factories and approach the inviting open doorways of their homes, whence their wives and children run to meet them, they become aware that the sky is darkening. Storm clouds are piling themselves one above the other. From them come zigzag flashes of awe-inspiring lightning.

Then, as the rising storm draws their attention, they see upon the hill between them and the cloud, dim in the gathering darkness, a band of silent, threatening figures.

The Cossacks, most dreaded of predatory forces, have come. The peaceful workman knows how little he can expect from them when they have conquered him and his.

At the head of the Cossack force sits a menacing figure. It is the politician who has gained power by riches applied corruptly in politics. His tried and true steed is the Office Holding Trust, which believes that only the bosses engaged by corporate wealth should have the right to name office-holders. His lance is Party Politics—a weapon that he is skilled in using for his own ends. His saddle bags are filled to overflowing with Excess Protection Plunder.

Behind him his fellows of the Cossack advance guard, coldly surveying the plain and its people whom soon they expect to conquer entirely.

They are as menacing as their leader—these other Cossacks. One of them is the great Steel Trust. Another is the Oil Trust. Still another is the Traction Trust that holds Boston in its grasp and buys its legislation at a friendly State House in a cold, calculating, business-like way.

They view the peaceful scene before them, preparatory to their last fatal swoop down upon it.

The workingman knows what the presence of the band of Cossacks means to him and his. Already he has felt the force of the Cossack whip in his wages, his hours and the price of his necessities. He used to submit humbly to the tyrannies of the predatory troops that came upon him. That was before he used his BRAIN as he does to-day. NOW he has made up his mind to resist.

He sees the black, lightning-charged cloud behind the Cossack host. He has oftentimes felt the power of its masses of dollars, ill-spent to take the government out of the hands of the people and give it to those who will use it to rob the already mulcted plain ones of the earth.

He knows the fury of the impending storm.

But he does not hesitate nor turn back, for he loves his country.

There is a menace in the storm which the workingman of to-day realizes, because he READS and THINKS.

When that storm broke over Rome, WHEN ITS RICHES WERE IN THE HANDS OF ONLY A FEW, Rome fell. He sees the same cloud gathering over his dearly-loved America. He knows that already the wealth of the country is getting into the hands of a few, many of whom do not use it well.

He hears the mutterings of the impending tempest. But he resolves that it shall not prevail against him and his.

The battle is on to-day. Its result will show us whether the Cossack or the American is to win, whether the Lodges, and the Morgans, and the Ryans, and the Guilds and Gastons and Wardwells are to rule, or the people.

And if to-day the Cossacks are beaten back—even though they return to the fray again and again—a shaft of sunlight will penetrate the storm cloud, and by one step the people will be nearer an assurance that the land they love will survive the wind and rain.

If the plain people fail to-day—as they have many times in the world's history, only to go ahead more firmly and surely after each failure—the fight will still be on.

The Cossacks cannot always be successful, because they are WRONG.

In the end, the RIGHT will win.

Election Day

By John Greenleaf Whittier

The following poem, written by Whittier over a quarter of a century ago, is reprinted to-day because of its application to the present campaign:

HE proudest now is but my peer.
The highest not more high;
To-day, of all the weary year,
A King of Men am I.
To-day, alike are great and small.
The nameless and the known;
My palace is the people's hall,
The ballot-box my throne.
WHO serves to-day upon the list
Beside the served shall stand;
Alike the brown and wrinkled fist,
The gloved and dainty hand!
The rich is level with the poor,
The weak is strong to-day;
And sleekest broadcloth counts no more
Than homespun, frock of gray.

TO-DAY let pomp and vain pretence
My stubborn right abide;
I set a plain man's common sense
Against the pedant's pride,
To-day shall simple manhood try
The strength of gold and land:
The wide world has not wealth to buy
The power in my right hand!

WHILE there's a grief to seek redress,
Or balance to adjust,
Where weighs our living manhood less
Than Mammon's vilest dust—
While there's a right to need my vote,
A wrong to sweep away,
Up! clouted knee and ragged coat!
A man's a man to-day!

BATTLE is being waged to-day in Massachusetts. A similar battle is being fought in New York. There is another one in Rhode Island.

The issue in these battles is in the hands of the voters and those who count the votes.

We may be assured of this: Whatever happens in TO-DAY'S fight the war of principles and votes WILL NOT END until the people are victorious.

The senior Senator of Massachusetts stated the issue far better than he intended to when he said:

"The result of the elections in New York and Massachusetts will determine whether the government is to be American or Cossack."

The situation is shown in the striking picture which Mr. Michelson has drawn from a suggestion made by one of the readers of this newspaper.

In a broad valley, teeming with agriculture, busy with the hum and clatter of industry, stand the homes of humble citizens. They are workers. Their toil has built up and is building up the wealth of the great Republic.
